Scott Trenhaile, MD of Rockford Orthopedic Associates receives award for education video and educational poster

ROCKFORD, IL March 24, 2014 ... Scott Trenhaile, MD, along with six physician co-developers, were named by the American Academy of Orthopaedic Surgeons (AAOS) as multi-media award winners for a video titled, "All-Arthroscopic Patch Augmentation of a Massive Rotator Cuff Tear: Surgical Technique" and accompanying scientific poster.

The media materials were judged by AAOS's Electronic Media Education Committee through peer review to select submitted video and multi media programs from among 100 submissions for presentation at the AAOS Annual Meeting March 11-16, 2014 in New Orleans. The final eight awarded programs were then made available for attendees to view as educational instruction during the conference.

The AAOS reports that video is valued as one of orthopaedic education's most helpful and widely used instructional tools. Selection of Dr. Trenhaile's video was made based on the educational merit, clinical relevance, high production value, and technical quality.

In addition to recognition for this multimedia instruction work, Dr. Trenhaile was also selected to conduct a live lecture, demonstration, and workshop for the Annual Meeting attendees on "Successful approaches to complex rotator cuff tear patterns: What to look for and what is needed to fix them."

Dr. Trenhaile's practice at Rockford Orthopedic Associates is focused on arthroscopic surgery of the shoulder, elbow, and knee, and treatment of sports- or activity-related injuries. He serves as team physician to many local sports teams at the high school, college and professional levels and as Clinical Assistant Professor at the University of Illinois College of Medicine and adjunct Clinical Instructor at Midwestern University. Dr. Trenhaile is a frequent speaker and instructor at orthopedic conferences throughout the world and has hosted dozens of international surgeons in Rockford seeking instruction on his advanced arthroscopic surgical techniques.
